THE DISCIPLINE

Courses are designed to create opportunities for students to develop and apply their analytical and decision making abilities. For this reason, BYU Marriott School programs make extensive use of faculty expertise, case studies, student projects, and internships. Computer-based information systems have become a critical part of the products, services, operations, and management of all organizations. The effective and efficient use of information and communications technologies is an important element in achieving competitive advantage for business organizations as well as achieving excellence in service for government and non-profit organizations. The twenty-first century has seen the rapid growth of the internet, ecommerce, and purely electronic enterprises.

These organizations would not even exist without the technology provided by computer-based information systems. The importance of information systems to organizations and the need for well-educated professionals in the field is the basis for strong educational programs and the development of a professional community of information systems practitioners.

Information systems involves two broad areas: (1) the acquisition, deployment, and management of an organization’s information systems resources and services; and (2) the development of computer based systems and technology infrastructures for use in organization processes.

Information systems professionals provide services ranging from the managerial to the highly technical. Information systems and technology skills are critical to the success of virtually all modern organizations, including small business, corporations, government, and educational institutions.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Information systems graduates work in large and small organizations of all types, helping maintain existing technology infrastructure and specifying technology solutions to business needs. They serve as the bridge between an organization’s technical personnel and its business side. Well educated information systems graduates are in high demand in accounting firms, technical companies, government agencies, and smaller entrepreneurial concerns. Challenging career opportunities embrace a wide range of interests. The variety of employment prospects includes opportunities for those who are primarily interested in people and organizations to those who enjoy very technical activities such as database and network administration or software development.
